

Approaching the RANZCP written Examination

Despite the current RANZCP written examination format having been introduced in May 2004, many candidates still appear unclear and confused about the nature of the examination questions and how to approach answering them

In addition consultation with supervisors has produced anecdotal evidence suggesting that some supervisors are not familiar with the new format and do not fully understand what the CFE expects of their trainees.

This workshop aims to address that deficit. It is suitable for trainees and supervisors.

In this workshop attendees will be introduced to:

1. The process for developing a written paper
2. The format of the current written paper
3. How questions are constructed
4. The scoring keys used to mark papers and
5. Tips for passing